Elizabeth Horan honored by alumnae

Marwood College Alumnae Association has selected Elizabeth Horan of Carbondale, class of 1937, as the second recipient of the Sister Denis Donagan Alumnae Award. She received the honor last Saturday during Marwood's alumnae homecoming program.

The association founded the award in conjunction with its 60th anniversary. The honor is named after the association's former moderator, who served the group from 1940 until her death in 1973. Last year's winner was Rosemary Carroll Kazimer of Wilkes-Barre.

The criteria for the winner of the Sister Denis Donagan award include contribution to the advancement and recognition of the college and the alumnae association, distinction in professional career, reflecting credit on the college, outstanding contributions to civic and community life, and demonstration of service to the alumnae association.

In choosing Miss Horan, the organization honors an active alumna of Marwood and a prominent person in the local social service field.

One of four sisters who were graduated from Marwood, she has five nieces. Elizabeth Horan was born in Carbon, Pa. Marwood was the second of her four children. She received her bachelor's degree in 1937 and her master's degree in psychology in 1955.

Her master's degree in social work was awarded by Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

The alumna is currently deputy project director of United Services Agency, which covers Luzerne and Wyoming counties.

She has worked with the Marwood Graduate School of Social Work. Upon request of the school, she has met with experts in the social work field.

For example, she has worked with leaders from the Council on Social Work Education on the school's behalf. She has provided consultation and support for Marwood's 50th anniversary celebration and served as a member of the organization's national executive board.

The alumna also served as a vice president of the association and president of its Carbon-dale chapter. She chaired the organization's first homecoming weekend in 1959, and helped honor incoming college president Sister Coleman Ne and outgoing president Sister St. Mary, O.R., at a 1971 reception.

Since then, she has served on the association's nominating committee. In 1980 and 1981 she worked with alumnae phoning efforts in Scranton and Carbon-dale.

Miss Horan's service to the college, she also has been extensive. Since 1966, she assisted in placement of Marwood students at local agencies. During the past few years at United Services, which she joined in the early 1970s, the agency has had a Marwood faculty person train staff persons in various programs.

'Scholastic' will feature 28 schools

Twenty-eight high schools in Northeastern Pennsylvania will be participating in the 1981-82 WCDL WSP-FM "Scholastic" Program. Every high school in Lackawanna, Wayne, Susquehanna, and Wyoming counties will be participating.

The show, "Scholastic" by Joseph Martin, "Scholastic" moderator, is now in its 16th year.

In the region, sports and physical achievements are stressed. "Scholastic" is designed, not to take anything away from regional athletes, but rather to praise some of the brilliant minds of the youth of the area.

The first program will be broadcast on Nov. 1 and will continue through June 15, when the championship team will be decided. The show will be heard each Sunday on WCDL-AM at 12:30 p.m. and WSP-FM-94 at 8:30 p.m.

Last year's championship team was from Desmore High School which will be competing against Blue Ridge and Abington Heights for the first match of the season.

Championship teams each year are awarded a $250 grant from WCDL, WSP-FM-94 and $1,300 from Marwood College.

The Lakeland Elementary PTA, Mayfield and Scott branches, will sponsor a Reading is Fundamental (RIF) program during the week of Oct. 26 at the Lakeland elementary school in Mayfield and during the week of Nov. 2 at the Lakeland elementary school in Scott.

Each child will receive two free books of his choice.

The program is designed to encourage individual student reading, not only in school, but also during the student's reading time at home.

Karen Palumbo is the elementary reading teacher in charge of the program.

Penn State plans sales seminar

The Pennsylvania State University's Worthington Scranton Campus will conduct a seminar entitled, "How to Develop Sales Skills" on Tuesday, Nov. 10, at the Holiday Inn, Route 316, Wilkes-Barre.

The workshop, which is being sponsored through the Continuing Education Department will provide a clear, comprehensive understanding of sales strategy principles and their application to defending existing markets and gaining market position from dominant competitors, as well as methods of formulating sound and deliberate sales strategies that produce results.

Enrollees will learn how to identify the key ingredients of their sales skills, measure the quality of their service by the most important criteria: organization, sales skills, and customer relations.

The seminar is for individuals in any size industry or business who meet and deal with the public. Specifically, participants should be all salesmen and saleswomen, door-to-door, insurance, real estate, automobile, telephone, industrial and others.

Edward Lederer will be the instructor for the seminar. He is a professional salesperson and a faculty member in the Continuing Education Program of the University of Alabama in Birmingham. He is a recognized quality of their service by the most important criteria: organization, sales skills, and customer relations.

Lakeland students in law

As part of the social studies curriculum in the Lakeland Elementary Schools, all students, kindergarten through sixth grade, will be instructed in law related education.

The program, Justice Education Teaching Strategy (JETS), has been developed by the Pennsylvania Department of Education to promote and maintain positive student attitudes and behavior and assist students in understanding their rights and meeting their responsibilities to help insure the safety and welfare of self and others.

Through the program it is hoped the students will participate in activities to affect value judgments, will obtain a more positive but realistic view of law and people who administer the law, will increase their knowledge of civil and criminal law, and increase their knowledge of procedures used by police and other criminal justice agencies.

The program has been developed in accordance with law enforcement officials with the hope that a cooperative effort among the school, home, and community will result in the proper development of future citizens.
